

FIRST AID KITS

First aid kits are designed to manage all types of injuries including basic cuts, scrapes and burns. No matter the injury, from minor to more serious ailments, a first aid kit is your “go to” for reducing the severity of the injury and preventing infection.

Storing Your First Aid Kit

Always make sure that your First Aid Kit is stored in a place that is within easy access to fully ensure everyone’s safety. This is important so that if any problem occurs treatment can begin immediately after the incident. Make sure the kit is stored securely closed, and kept in a cool, dry location.

First Aid Kit List

The First Aid Kit list is an itemized list to help make sure you have the minimum number of items required, and what is needed in the event of an accident. A laminated list can be ordered through CP (# 3001685) or printed from the Health & Safety Manual appendices.

Please note: Luxottica does not allow any drugs in the First Aid Kit, including non-prescription medicine such as Tylenol.

First Aid Kit Maintenance

Your first aid kit must be inspected regularly to ensure that all supplies are current, that contents were replenished after use, and to replace any expired items. To ensure the kit is up to date, a designated person should inspect the kit on a monthly basis. This inspection can then be validated during the monthly EHS H&S Safety Checklist in CAMS.
