

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW:

Lens cleaner is a hazardous material as it contains alcohol and is considered flammable. For your safety and knowledge, and under OSHA’s Hazard Communication (HazCom) standard, the lens cleaner containers must therefore be labeled with the contents of the container and any associated hazards.

It has been brought to our attention that the larger 2.5-gallon containers (“cubetainers”) have historically not had labeling on the exterior of the box. To address this, Procurement has worked with the supplier to provide sticker labels to apply to the outside of the box upon arrival at the store.

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO:

1) Going forward, all lens cleaner cubetainer orders will ship with a hazard label for you to apply. The label will be shipped inside an envelope that has been taped to the outside of the box.

2) Upon receipt of the cubetainer, open the envelope and remove the label. Adhere the label to any side of the box except the bottom. (The label should be visible to all employees.)

In the event you receive a cubetainer and the envelope is empty, please remove the envelope and check behind to see if the label has already been applied to the box. In this instance, you can simply remove the envelope so the label can be seen.
